for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversions, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as infantile nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or anesthetics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodines, Draps, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, as the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used in children's prescriptions and I have found it always good." — John J. Latta, M.D.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effects and freedom from harm." — Edward Paxton, M.D., New York City.

"Castoria is a wonderful household remedy. It is surely safe and acts as a mild laxative. I have used it in many cases where no other medicine would give the required relief of abdominal distress." — T. J. Fisher, M.D., Kansas City, Mo.

DANGEROUS JOKER IS PUT OUT OF Y. M. C. A.

He was a short, seedy-looking man, this individual who dropped into the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria Saturday evening, and he was dressed in a neat blue coat with a pair of trousers that might have passed for white to a person who was color blind. His shoes were at least three sizes too big for him, and he walked like a maniac who had just stepped off a Pacific Mail boat after an unusually rough trip from San Francisco.

He shuffled into the dining room and after casting his eyes over the scenery for a few minutes, picked up a tray and walked up to the steam table and picked out a fifteen-cent "square". Seating himself at the nearest table, his eye was caught by a tastefully arranged bunch of carnations. Picking one out of the vase, he smelled of it and then proceeded to eat it with a relish. It tasted so good to him that he had commenced to finish up the rest of the bunch, when "Wiz," who had been told that there was an undesirable character in the dining room, caught sight of him.

Now, carnations cost money, and are certainly not included in a fifteen-cent meal. Wisdom went in and touched him on the shoulder just as he was about to consume the last of the big red flowers.

"Well, little bean, who are you?" asked "Wiz."

The man stopped and looked the secretary over from head to foot.

"Why, don't you know who I be?" asked the seedy individual.

"No," answered Wiz. "Who are you?"

"Why," said the man, "I'm the guy that put the ants in restaurants."

"Is that so?" said Wiz, as he hustled him out of the dining room.

"Well, you didn't put any ants in this restaurant, so out you go!"

When they got outside the man began to groan and complain.

"Now, what is the matter?" asked "Wiz."

"I told you a lie in there," said the man. "I am not the man who put the ants in restaurants."

"Well, then, for goodness sake who are you?" asked Wiz.

"I'm the mutt that put the ache in stomachs," he replied.

Then Wiz called a cop.

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS

If Constipated, Bilious, Headache, Stomach Sour, get a 10-cent box of Cascarets—take one tonight.

You men and women who can't get along right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have back-ache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels?

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children; they love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.
